Eval. Notes:	A standard compliance inspection was conducted at Ranco Inc. (Ranco). Ranco is a large quantity generator of hazardous waste. Ranco does not generate hazardous waste on a routine basis, but has the potential to produce several thousand pounds to several tons of hazardous waste in a calendar month. Ranco's last hazardous waste shipment was on 11/9/2018. There is no active operations currently ongoing at Ranco and the site is not currently staffed. This remediation site from a facility the was previously located here. Previously large quantities of waste were generated from thermal recovery operations taking place on site. Now, most activity on the site consists of the drilling of wells. Hazardous wastes generated on site have historically been spent solvent waste (F002) as a result of remedial actions at the site. There was no hazardous waste being generated at this time. The facility anticipates the only hazardous wastes to be generated in the future will come from drill cuttings as they drill new monitoring wells. The site inspection consisted of a tour of the yard. The building previously operated by General Spray is still present at this location. However, this building is vacant and Ranco does not conduct any operations inside this building as part of the remediation. There was no hazardous waste on site at the time of this inspection. There were approximately seven 55-gallon drums with non-hazardous waste labels on them. Many of the dirt piles noted in the previous inspection were still on site. However, it was indicated that these piles are not contaminated soil and are not hazardous. The site has had several issues with dumping but has worked to resolve them by maintaining fences. Due to complications regarding COVID-19, there were delays in receiving required documentation. Required documentation was reviewed via email. A review of required documentation revealed no deficiencies. No RCRA violations were issued as a result of this RCRA in

Eval. Notes:	On March 30, 2015 this inspector traveled to Ranco in Elizabeth, NJ to conduct a LQG inspection. However upon arrival at Ranco this inspector noticed that the building had been demolished. One building was on site and the company leasing this building is General Spray. General Spray is a ceramic powder mixing company for the computer and airplane industry. General Spray does not generate any hazardous waste. Mr. Alvez informed this inspector that General Spray will leave the site in 2017. A review in NJEMS shows that Ranco has been involved with Site Remediation for quite a few years. It is clear that Ranco is not physically operating at this site and that the hazardous waste generated is coming from remedial operations. No further enforcement action necessary. The attachment tab has pictures of the site and debris piles.
